

ADVENTIST HEALTHCARE RETIREMENT PLAN

Retirement Plan Payments Rights Notice

Federal law requires that you receive information about any rights that you may have associated with a payment from the Adventist HealthCare Retirement Plan (AHRP [the Plan]). Please review the following information regarding your rights.

You have 30 days, to the extent applicable, to consider whether to:

- Consent to this payment;
- Consent to a form of payment other than the normal form of payment; and/or
- Elect a direct rollover (and understand the tax consequences of not electing one).

If you are separated from service and your vested balance at that time or any subsequent time does not exceed $1,000, you have 450 days to consider whether to elect a direct rollover (and understand the tax consequences of not electing one). Only the Withholding Notice and the Special Tax Notice Regarding Plan Payments below may be applicable to you.

By confirming a payment request, you are waiving your right to the applicable 30-day notice periods. If you choose not to waive this right, you should not confirm your request. However, if you wish to receive a payment at any subsequent time, you will be asked again whether you wish to waive your right to the applicable 30-day notice periods. Please note that your decision to waive your right to the applicable 30-day notice periods does not obligate the Plan to make the payment within 30 days.

Also, by confirming a payment, you are acknowledging that you have received, reviewed, and comprehend the information contained in the following sections of this Notice:

- Notice Regarding Commencement of Benefits;
- Withholding Notice (applies to the portion of a payment that is not eligible for rollover);
- Expanded Rollover Options;
- Roth 401(k); and
- Special Tax Notice Regarding Plan Payments (applies to the portion of a payment that is eligible for rollover).

Notice Regarding Commencement of Benefits

You may choose to delay the commencement of your benefits until normal retirement age. By choosing to take a payment now, you are giving up your right to continue to invest those amounts on a tax-deferred basis in the Plan. If you choose to delay commencement, you may continue to invest in any of the available investment options under the Plan. For information about the investment options available to you under the Plan, as well as any associated fees and restrictions, you can access the AHRP Web site at <http://AHRP.com> or call the AHRP Retirement Center.

Explanation of the Optional Forms of Payment

Below are the payment options and a description of each of those options under the AHRP. Whether you are eligible for a particular payment option may depend on your employment status, your financial need, and/or your account balance.

Payment Options While Employed

While you are employed, the following payment options may be available to you:

- Age 59½ Withdrawal—You may request an age 59½ withdrawal at any time after you attain the age of 59½, even if you do not have an immediate and heavy financial need. An age 59½ withdrawal will reduce the following accounts, in the order listed, up to the amount that is available in each account:
 - Rollover Account
 - Before-Tax Account (only if you are age 59½ or older)
 - Vested Employer Contribution Accounts
- Hardship Withdrawal—If you have an immediate and heavy financial need, based on plan requirements, and you have no other resources reasonably available to you to meet that need, you may request a hardship withdrawal. A hardship withdrawal will reduce the before-tax contributions and any pre-1989 earnings on your before-tax contributions that are in your Before-Tax Account. Your withdrawal amount cannot exceed the amount that is necessary to satisfy your need, plus any additional amounts necessary to pay any federal, state, and local income taxes or penalties reasonably expected to result from the withdrawal. You must provide the documentation required by the Plan to prove your immediate and heavy financial need and the amount necessary to satisfy that need. A hardship withdrawal will be made only in cash.

Payment Options After Total and Permanent Disability or Separation From Service

If your vested account balance is greater than $1,000 after you have become totally and permanently disabled or separated from service with AHRP, you may have one or more of the following payment options available to you. The normal form of payment is a lump-sum distribution.

- Lump-Sum Distribution—You may request to have your entire vested account balance paid to you in a single payment.
For example, if you had a vested account balance of $100,000, you could take the entire vested balance in a single payment.
- Fixed Installments—You may request to have your vested account balance distributed to you in the form of fixed installments, which are considered nonperiodic payments. With fixed installments, you elect the dollar amount of the installments and frequency (monthly, quarterly, semiannually, or annually) over which you would like to receive your payments. Each installment amount is the same, and you continue to receive installments until your account balance runs out. The balance remains invested in the funds you have selected, and you may continue to change your investment mix.

For example, if you had a vested account balance of $100,000 and you elected to receive monthly installments of $500 each, you would receive $500 a month until your vested balance is depleted.

- Required Minimum Distributions—If you do not elect a payment option, beginning with the year in which you reach age 70½ or separate from service, whichever is later, your vested account balance will be distributed to you in the form of required minimum distributions. Even if you elect one of the payment options above, your payments made throughout the year must meet the required minimum distribution amount that will be calculated each year. If the payments made throughout the year are not sufficient to cover your required minimum distribution that is due for the year, an additional amount will be distributed.

A required minimum distribution is an annual payment calculated based on the joint life expectancies of you and an assumed beneficiary who is 10 years younger. The amount calculated is based on the prior year's December 31 adjusted closing balance, divided by the applicable life expectancy factor.

For example, if you had a prior year's December 31 closing account balance of $100,000 and your whole age attained in the year in which you attain age 70½ is 71, your first required minimum distribution would be calculated by dividing $100,000 by the factor associated with age 71, which is 26.5. The first required minimum distribution payment would equal $3,773.58.

Withholding Notice (Applies to the Portion of a Payment That Is Not Eligible for Rollover)

The taxable portion of a payment that is not eligible for rollover is subject to federal income tax withholding, unless you elect not to have withholding apply. Withholding on the taxable portion of a payment that is eligible for rollover is described in the Special Tax Notice Regarding Plan Payments section on the next page.

You may elect not to have federal withholding apply to the taxable portion of your payment that is not eligible for rollover, or change your withholding, by calling the AHRP Retirement Center. Your election will remain in effect for any subsequent payments that are part of the same payment stream until you revoke it. You may make and revoke your election not to have withholding apply as often as you wish. Any election or revocation will be effective as soon as administratively possible after your election or revocation is received.

If the payment is a nonperiodic payment (e.g., hardship withdrawals attributable to before-tax contributions, fixed installments, etc.), withholding will be taken at a flat 10% rate.

If you elect not to have withholding apply, or if you do not have enough federal income tax withheld, you may be responsible for the payment of estimated tax. You may incur penalties under the estimated tax rules if your withholding and estimated tax payments are not sufficient.

Expanded Rollover Options

In addition to and/or in lieu of the options described in the Special Tax Notice below, effective January 1, 2007, rollover-eligible payments made to nonspousal beneficiaries will be eligible for direct rollover into an IRA. Also effective January 1, 2007 the direct rollover of eligible after-tax amounts will be permitted between employer 401(a) and 403(b) plans. Effective January 1, 2008, all rollover-eligible distributions may be eligible to be directly rolled over to a Roth IRA.

Roth 401(k)

Effective January 1, 2006, employers can permit designated Roth contributions to be made to a qualified 401(k) plan. All of the information in this notice generally applies to a distribution from the plan of any Roth contributions. However, for any rollover-eligible distribution that includes amounts attributable to designated Roth 401(k) contributions and earnings, those Roth distribution amounts may only be rolled over into a Roth IRA or another employer plan maintaining a Roth contribution account.

Special Tax Notice Regarding Plan Payments (Applies to the Portion of a Payment That Is Eligible for Rollover)

This notice explains how you can continue to defer federal income tax on your retirement savings in the Plan and contains important information you will need before you decide how to receive your plan benefits.

This notice is provided to you by the AHRP Retirement Center because all or part of the payment that you will soon receive from the Plan may be eligible for rollover by you or your Plan Administrator to a traditional IRA or an eligible employer plan. A rollover is a payment by you or the Plan Administrator of all or part of your benefit to another plan or IRA that allows you to continue to postpone taxation of that benefit until it is paid to you. Your payment cannot be rolled over to a Roth IRA, a SIMPLE IRA, or a Coverdell Education Savings Account (formerly known as an education IRA). An "eligible employer plan" includes a plan qualified under Section 401(a) of the Internal Revenue Code, including a 401(k) plan, profit sharing plan, defined benefit plan, stock bonus plan, and money purchase plan; a Section 403(b) annuity plan; a Section 403(b) tax-sheltered annuity; and an eligible Section 457(b) plan maintained by a governmental employer (governmental 457 plan).

An eligible employer plan is not legally required to accept a rollover. Before you decide to roll over your payment to another employer plan, you should find out whether the plan accepts rollovers and, if so, the types of distributions it accepts as a rollover. You should also find out about any documents that are required to be completed before the receiving plan will accept a rollover. Even if a plan accepts rollovers, it might not accept rollovers of certain types of distributions, such as after-tax amounts. If this is the case, and your distribution includes after-tax amounts, you may wish instead to roll your distribution over to a traditional IRA or split your rollover amount between the employer plan in which you will participate and a traditional IRA.

If an employer plan accepts your rollover, the plan may restrict subsequent distributions of the rollover amount or may require your spouse's consent for any subsequent distribution. A subsequent distribution from the plan that accepts your rollover may also be subject to different tax treatment than distributions from this plan. Check with the Plan Administrator of the plan that is to receive your rollover prior to making the rollover.

If you have additional questions after reading this notice, you can contact the AHRP Retirement Center.

Summary

There are two ways you may be able to receive a plan payment that is eligible for rollover:

- Certain payments can be made directly to a traditional IRA that you establish or to an eligible employer plan that will accept it and hold it for your benefit ("direct rollover"); or
- The payment can be paid to you.

If you choose a direct rollover:

- Your payment will not be taxed in the current year, and no income tax will be withheld.
- You choose whether your payment will be made directly to your traditional IRA or to an eligible employer plan that accepts your rollover. Your payment cannot be rolled over to a Roth IRA, a SIMPLE IRA, or a Coverdell Education Savings Account because these are not traditional IRAs.
- The taxable portion of your payment will be taxed later when you take it out of the traditional IRA or the eligible employer plan. Depending on the type of plan, the later distribution may be subject to different tax treatment than it would be if you received a taxable distribution from this plan.

If you choose to have a plan payment that is eligible for rollover paid to you:

- You will receive only 80% of the taxable amount of the payment, because the Plan Administrator is required to withhold 20% of that amount and send it to the IRS as income tax withholding to be credited against your taxes.
- The taxable amount of your payment will be taxed in the current year unless you roll it over. Under limited circumstances, you may be able to use special tax rules that could reduce the tax you owe. However, if you receive the payment before age 59½, you may have to pay an additional 10% tax.
- You can roll over all or part of the payment by paying it to your traditional IRA or to an eligible employer plan that accepts your rollover within 60 days after you receive the payment. The amount rolled over will not be taxed until you take it out of the traditional IRA or the eligible employer plan.
- If you want to roll over 100% of the payment to a traditional IRA or an eligible employer plan, you must find other money to replace the 20% of the taxable portion that was withheld. If you roll over only the 80% that you received, you will be taxed on the 20% that was withheld and not rolled over.

Your Right to Waive the 30-Day Notice Period.

Generally, neither a direct rollover nor a payment can be made from the Plan until at least 30 days after your receipt of this notice. Thus, after receiving this notice, you have at least 30 days to consider whether or not to have your withdrawal directly rolled over. If you do not wish to wait until this 30-day notice period ends before your election is processed, you may waive the notice period by making an affirmative election indicating whether or not you wish to make a direct rollover. Your withdrawal will then be processed in accordance with your election as soon as administratively possible after it is received by the AHRP Retirement Center.

I. Payments That Can and Cannot Be Rolled Over

Payments from the Plan may be "eligible rollover distributions." This means that they can be rolled over to a traditional IRA or to an eligible employer plan that accepts rollovers. Payments from a plan cannot be rolled over to a Roth IRA, a SIMPLE IRA, or a Coverdell Education Savings Account. The AHRP Retirement Center should be able to tell you what portion of your payment is an eligible rollover distribution.

The following types of payments cannot be rolled over:

Payments Spread Over Long Periods. You cannot roll over a payment if it is part of a series of equal (or almost equal) payments that are made at least once a year and that will last for:

- Your lifetime (or a period measured by your life expectancy);
- Your lifetime and your beneficiary's lifetime (or a period measured by your joint life expectancies); or
- A period of 10 years or more.

Required Minimum Payments. Beginning when you reach age 70½ or retire, whichever is later, a certain portion of your payment cannot be rolled over because it is a "required minimum payment" that must be paid to you. Special rules apply if you own more than 5% of your employer.

Hardship Distributions. A hardship distribution cannot be rolled over.

Corrective Distributions. A distribution that is made to correct a failed nondiscrimination test or because legal limits on certain contributions were exceeded cannot be rolled over.

Loans Treated as Distributions. The amount of a plan loan that becomes a taxable deemed distribution because of a default cannot be rolled over. However, a loan offset amount is eligible for rollover, as discussed in Part III on page 4. Ask the AHRP Retirement Center if distribution of your loan qualifies for rollover treatment.

The AHRP Retirement Center should be able to tell you if your payment includes amounts that cannot be rolled over.

II. Direct Rollover

A direct rollover is a direct payment of the amount of your plan benefits to a traditional IRA or an eligible employer plan that will accept it. You can choose a direct rollover of all or any portion of your payment that is an eligible rollover distribution, as described in Part I above. You are not taxed on any taxable portion of your payment for which you choose a direct rollover until you later take it out of the traditional IRA or eligible employer plan. In addition, no income tax withholding is required for any taxable portion of your plan benefits for which you choose a direct rollover. This plan might not let you choose a direct rollover if your distributions for the year are less than $200.

Direct Rollover to a Traditional IRA. You can open a traditional IRA to receive the direct rollover. If you choose to have your payment made directly to a traditional IRA, contact an IRA sponsor (usually a financial institution) to find out how to have your payment deposited in a direct rollover to a traditional IRA at that institution. If you are unsure of how to invest your money, you can temporarily establish a traditional IRA to receive the payment. However, in choosing a traditional IRA, you may wish to make sure that the traditional IRA you choose will allow you to move all or a part of your payment to another traditional IRA at a later date, without penalties or other limitations. See IRS Publication 590, Individual Retirement Arrangements, for more information on traditional IRAs (including limits on how often you can roll over between traditional IRAs).

Direct Rollover Into a Plan. If you are employed by a new employer that has an eligible employer plan and you want a direct rollover into that plan, ask the Plan Administrator of that plan whether it will accept your rollover. An eligible employer plan is not legally required to accept a rollover. Even if your new employer's plan does not accept a rollover, you can choose a direct rollover to a traditional IRA. If the employer plan accepts your rollover, the plan may provide restrictions on the circumstances under which you may later receive a distribution of the rollover amount or may require spousal consent to any subsequent distribution. Check with the Plan Administrator of that plan before making your decision.

Direct Rollover of a Series of Payments. If you receive a payment that can be rolled over to a traditional IRA or an eligible employer plan that will accept it, and it is paid in a series of payments for less than 10 years, your choice to make or not make a direct rollover for a payment will apply to all later payments in the series until you change your election. You are free to change your election for any later payment in the series.

Change in Tax Treatment Resulting From a Direct Rollover. The tax treatment of any payment from the eligible employer plan or traditional IRA receiving your direct rollover might be different than if you received your benefit in a taxable distribution directly from the Plan. For example, if you were born before January 1, 1936, you might be entitled to 10-year averaging or capital gains treatment, as explained below.

However, if you have your benefit rolled over to a Section 403(b) tax-sheltered annuity, a governmental 457 plan, or a traditional IRA, your benefit will no longer be eligible for that special treatment. See the sections below entitled "Additional 10% Tax if You Are Under Age 59½" and "Special Tax Treatment if You Were Born Before January 1, 1936."

III. Payment Paid to You

If your payment can be rolled over (see Part I on the previous page) and the payment is made to you in cash, it is subject to 20% federal income tax withholding on the taxable portion (state tax withholding may also apply). The payment is taxed in the year you receive it unless, within 60 days, you roll it over to a traditional IRA or an eligible employer plan that accepts rollovers. If you do not roll it over, special tax rules may apply.

Income Tax Withholding

- Mandatory Withholding. If any portion of your payment can be rolled over under Part I (on the previous page) and you do not elect to make a direct rollover, the Plan is required by law to withhold 20% of the taxable amount. This amount is sent to the IRS as federal income tax withholding. For example, if you can roll over a taxable payment of $10,000, only $8,000 will be paid to you because the Plan must withhold $2,000 as income tax. However, when you prepare your income tax return for the year, unless you make a rollover within 60 days (see "Sixty-Day Rollover Option" below), you must report the full $10,000 as a taxable payment from the Plan. You must report the $2,000 as tax withheld, and it will be credited against any income tax you owe for the year. There may not be any income tax withholding taken if your payments for the year are less than $200.
- Voluntary Withholding. If any portion of your payment is taxable but cannot be rolled over under Part I (on the previous page), the mandatory withholding rules described above do not apply. In this case, you may elect not to have withholding apply to that portion. If you do nothing, an amount will be taken out of this portion of your payment for federal income tax withholding. To elect out of withholding, call the AHRP Retirement Center.

Sixty-Day Rollover Option. If you receive a payment that can be rolled over under Part I (on the previous page), you can still decide to roll over all or part of it into a traditional IRA or an eligible employer plan that accepts rollovers. If you decide to roll it over, you must contribute the amount of the payment you received to a traditional IRA or to an eligible employer plan within 60 days after you receive the payment. The portion of your payment that is rolled over will not be taxed until you take it out of the traditional IRA or the eligible employer plan.

You can roll over up to 100% of your payment that can be rolled over under Part I (on the previous page), including an amount equal to the 20% of the taxable portion that was withheld. If you choose to roll over 100% of your payment, you must find other money to contribute to the traditional IRA or the eligible employer plan (within the 60-day period) to replace the 20% that was withheld. On the other hand, if you roll over only the 80% of the taxable portion that you received, you will be taxed on the 20% that was withheld.

Example: The taxable portion of your payment that can be rolled over under Part I (on the previous page) is $10,000, and you choose to have it paid to you. You will receive $8,000, and $2,000 will be sent to the IRS as income tax withholding. Within 60 days after receiving the $8,000, you may roll over the entire $10,000 into a traditional IRA or an eligible employer plan. To do this, you roll over the $8,000 you received from the Plan, and you will have to find $2,000 from other sources (e.g., your savings, a loan, etc.). In this case, the entire $10,000 is not taxed until you take it out of the traditional IRA or an eligible employer plan. If you roll over the entire $10,000, when you file your income tax return, you may receive a refund of part or all of the $2,000 withheld.

If, on the other hand, you roll over only $8,000, the $2,000 you did not roll over is taxed in the year it was withheld. When you file your income tax return, you may receive a refund of part of the $2,000 withheld. (However, any refund is likely to be larger if you roll over the entire $10,000.)

Additional 10% Tax if You Are Under Age 59½.

If you receive a payment before you reach age 59½ and you do not roll it over, then, in addition to the regular income tax, you may have to pay an extra tax equal to 10% of the taxable portion of the payment. The additional 10% tax generally does not apply to: (1) Payments that are paid after you separate from service with your employer during or after the year in which you reach age 55; (2) Payments that are paid because you retire due to disability; (3) Payments that are paid as equal (or almost equal) payments over your life or life expectancy (or your and your beneficiary's lives or life expectancies); (4) Dividends paid with respect to stock by an employee stock ownership plan (ESOP) as described in Code section 404(k); (5) Payments that are paid directly to the government to satisfy a federal tax levy; (6) Payments that are paid to an alternate payee under a qualified domestic relations order; or (7) Payments that do not exceed the amount of your deductible medical expenses. See IRS Form 5329 for more information on the additional 10% tax.

The additional 10% tax will not apply to distributions from a governmental 457 plan, except to the extent that the distribution is attributable to an amount you rolled over into that plan (adjusted for investment returns) from another type of eligible employer plan or IRA. Any amount rolled over from a governmental 457 plan to another type of eligible employer plan or to a traditional IRA will become subject to the additional 10% tax if it is distributed to you before you reach age 59½, unless one of the exceptions applies.

Special Tax Treatment if You Were Born Before January 1, 1936.

If you receive a payment from a plan qualified under Section 401(a) or a Section 403(a) annuity plan that can be rolled over under Part I and you do not roll it over into a traditional IRA or an eligible employer plan, the payment will be taxed in the year you receive it. However, if the payment qualifies as a "lump-sum distribution," it may be eligible for special tax treatment. A lump-sum distribution is a payment, within one year, of your entire balance under the Plan (and certain other similar plans of the employer) that is payable to you after you have reached age 59½ or because you have separated from service with your employer (or, in the case of a self-employed individual, after you have reached age 59½ or have become disabled).

For a payment to be treated as a lump-sum distribution, you must have been a participant in the Plan for at least five years before the year in which you received the distribution. The special tax treatment for lump-sum distributions that may be available to you is described below.

- Ten-Year Averaging. If you receive a lump-sum distribution and you were born before January 1, 1936, you can make a one-time election to figure the tax on the payment by using “10-year averaging” (using 1986 tax rates). Ten-year averaging often reduces the tax you owe.
- Capital Gains Treatment. If you receive a lump-sum distribution, you were born before January 1, 1936, and you were a participant in the Plan before 1974, you may elect to have the part of your payment that is attributable to your pre-1974 participation in the Plan taxed as long-term capital gain at a rate of 20%.

There are other limits on the special tax treatment for lump-sum distributions. For example, you can generally elect this special tax treatment only once in your lifetime, and the election applies to all lump-sum distributions that you receive in that same year. You may not elect this special tax treatment if you rolled amounts into the Plan from a Section 403(b) tax-sheltered annuity contract, a governmental 457 plan, or from an IRA not originally attributable to a qualified employer plan. If you have previously rolled over a distribution from the Plan (or certain other similar plans of the employer), you cannot use this special averaging treatment for later payments from the Plan. If you roll over your payment to a traditional IRA, governmental 457 plan, or Section 403(b) tax-sheltered annuity, you will not be able to use special tax treatment for later payments from that IRA, plan, or annuity. Also, if you roll over only a portion of your payment to a traditional IRA, governmental 457 plan, or Section 403(b) tax-sheltered annuity, this special tax treatment is not available for the rest of the payment. See IRS Form 4972 for additional information on lump-sum distributions and how you elect the special tax treatment.

Repayment of Plan Loans. If your employment ends and you have an outstanding loan from the Plan, you must continue to make loan repayments. Once you take a lump-sum distribution, the Plan Administrator will reduce (or “offset”) your balance in the Plan by the amount of the loan you have not repaid. The amount of your loan offset is treated as a distribution to you at the time of the offset and will be taxed unless you roll over an amount equal to the amount of your loan offset into another qualified employer plan or a traditional IRA within 60 days of the date of the offset. If the amount of your loan offset is the only amount you receive or are treated as having received, no amount will be withheld from it. If you receive other payments of cash or property from the Plan, the 20% withholding amount will be based on the entire amount paid to you, including the amount of the loan offset. The amount withheld will be limited to the amount of other cash or property paid to you (other than any employer securities). The amount of a defaulted plan loan that is a taxable deemed distribution cannot be rolled over.

IV. Surviving Spouses, Alternate Payees, and Other Beneficiaries

In general, the rules summarized above that apply to payments to employees also apply to payments to surviving spouses of employees and to spouses or former spouses who are “alternate payees.” You are an alternate payee if your interest in the Plan results from a “qualified domestic relations order,” which is an order issued by a court, usually in connection with a divorce or legal separation.

If you are a surviving spouse or an alternate payee, you may choose to have a payment that can be rolled over, as described in Part I on page 2, paid in a direct rollover into a traditional IRA, or to an eligible employer plan, or to you. If you have the payment paid to you, you can keep it or roll it over yourself into a traditional IRA or an eligible employer plan. Thus, you have the same choices as the employee.

If you are a beneficiary other than a surviving spouse or an alternate payee, you cannot choose a direct rollover, and you cannot roll over the payment yourself.

If you are a surviving spouse, an alternate payee, or another beneficiary, your payment is generally not subject to the additional 10% tax described in Part III on page 3, even if you are younger than age 59½.

If you are a surviving spouse, an alternate payee, or another beneficiary, you may be able to use the special tax treatment for lump-sum distributions, as described in Part III on page 3. If you receive a payment because of the employee’s death, you may be able to treat the payment as a lump-sum distribution if the employee met the appropriate age requirements, whether or not the employee had five years of participation in the Plan.

How to Obtain Additional Information

This notice summarizes only the federal (not state or local) tax rules that may apply to your payment. The rules described above are complex and contain many conditions and exceptions that are not included in this notice. Therefore, you may want to consult with a professional tax advisor before you take a payment of your benefits from the Plan. Also, you can find more specific information on the tax treatment of payments from qualified employer plans in IRS Publication 575, Pension and Annuity Income, and IRS Publication 590, Individual Retirement Arrangements. These publications are available from your local IRS office, on the IRS’s Internet Web site at www.irs.gov, or by calling 1-800-TAX-FORMS.
